

Montana Governor Steve Bullock

Steve Bullock was elected Montana's 24th governor in 2013. He previously Prior to election as Governor, Steve served as chief counsel to Montana's Secretary of State. The alumnus of Claremont McKenna College and Columbia University School of Law split his legal career between the private sector and public service.

As governor, Bullock has focused on growing Montana's economy, protecting public access to public lands, ensuring fairness in elections, and standing up for Montana citizens on a variety of other issues.

